MEET OBATALIA

A true multi-hyphenate artist, Obatalia's creative journey spans writing, movement, visual arts, and performance, reflecting her belief in the power of storytelling and self-expression as tools for healing.

Her work celebrates the intersections of art, spirituality, and ancestral wisdom, inviting others to step into their fullest potential through play and authentic self expression.

Could you quickly calculate how many beautiful, brilliant, gifted souls are living the safest, most politically correct expression of 'self' to fit inside someone else's zone of comfort, just to appease and maintain the illusion of 'peace'? What if, as long as you weren't physically or emotionally harming anyone, you did what brought you joy and fulfillment? Wouldn't you consider this act of rebellion to be your ancestors' wildest dreams?"

you get to change at any time without apology or explanation

Now is the time to embrace the parts of you that have been judged, rejected, or neglected—these aspects carry latent gifts and treasures awaiting your acceptance. I'm Obatalia, a muse to inspire you along your path of remembrance. If this message speaks to your heart, my prayer is that you choose to live life on your terms, claim your birthrights, and release the fear of being seen for who you truly are.
